Highlights of the Tax Amendment Bill, 2020

Further to the Presidential Directive dated 25th March 2020, National Treasury of the Republic of Kenya released the Tax Amendment Bill, 2020 for comments by stakeholders. The Bill includes additional proposals that were in the Income Tax Bill that was released in 2018 but were not announced by the President.

The proposed amendments will become law once assented by the President. The Parliament resumes sittings on Tuesday, 7th April 2020 and this Bill is expected to be among the priority items that will be tabled for discussion and approval before being forwarded to the President for assent.

In this Alert we provide an analysis of the proposals introduced by the Tax Amendment Bill 2020 ("Bill").

Description	Comments
Reduction of corporate income tax from 30% to 25%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Surprisingly, the Bill that was circulated for comment did not provide for a reduction in corporate tax for companies from 30% to 25% in line with the Presidential Directive.</li> <li>• Further, the preferential corporate tax rates that range from 20% to 27% provided to newly listed companies have been repealed. In the absence of a provision lowering the general corporate tax rate to 25%, such corporates will now be taxed at 30%. This would appear to be contrary to the Presidential directive.</li> <li>• We recommend that consideration is given to including a provision in the Bill to effect the Presidential directive and to actually expand it to also reduce the rate of taxation of non-residents companies with the same margin of 5% to 32.5% from 37.5%.</li> </ul>
Reduction of the turnover tax rate from the current 3% to 1% for all Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Bill reduces the turnover tax rate from 3% to 1% for Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs).</li> <li>• Further, the Bill proposes to increase the threshold for MSMEs qualifying for turnover tax from KES 5 million to 50million. Incorporated companies meeting the threshold will now be entitled to declare their taxes on a turnover basis.</li> <li>• The Bill has further scrapped the presumptive tax which was payable by MSME's when they were obtaining/ renewing their business permits with county governments and which was creditable to the turnover tax paid. This was an administratively cumbersome process which made the implementation of the turnover tax unduly complex.</li> <li>• The turnover tax is still not applicable to rental income, management, professional or training fees and interest income.</li> <li>• The Government is demonstrating clear commitment to shield the MSMEs from economic shocks. The highest tax payable under the turnover tax will now be KShs 500,000 which represents a significant tax reduction for medium enterprises whose turnover is close to the maximum threshold of KShs 50 million. It will also significantly streamline the administrative complexity for such businesses.</li> <li>• Consideration should be given to applying the turnover tax to income relating to management, professional or training that is below the KShs 50 million threshold to cushion small professional businesses such as law firms whose business has significantly reduced during this period. Notably firms operating in these currently restricted sectors and that are below the stated turnover threshold are still MSMEs by definition.</li> </ul>

Reduction of the corporate tax deductions available to corporate bodies	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Bill proposes to remove the 30% additional tax deductions on electricity costs available to manufacturers which was introduced recently.</li> <li>• Also, it disallows the deduction of subscriptions payable to trade associations when companies are computing their corporate tax liabilities and club subscriptions paid by an employer on behalf of an employee.</li> <li>• Any expenditure of a capital nature incurred by a person on the construction of a public school, hospital, road or any similar kind of social infrastructure shall also not be tax deductible.</li> <li>• The Bill has reduced tax incentives available to companies listing their shares at the Nairobi Securities Exchange:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i) Any expenditure of a capital nature incurred by a person on legal costs and other incidental expenses relating to the authorisation and issue of shares, debentures or similar securities offered for purchase by the general public or for the purposes of listing on any securities exchange operating in Kenya, without raising additional capital shall not be tax deductible.</li> <li>ii) any expenditure of a capital nature incurred by a person on rating for the purposes of listing on any securities exchange operating in Kenya</li> </ul> </li> <li>• The wide-ranging restriction of the deductibility of these expenditure reflects a clear change in mood at the National Treasury's intention to notch up tax revenues that have not achieved expected levels in recent times.</li> </ul>
Income tax exemptions reduced	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Bill proposes to reduce the current income tax exemptions listed in Part I of the First Schedule to the Income Tax Act ("ITA").</li> <li>• Notable tax exemptions that have been removed in the Bill include:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i) Capital gains tax exemptions on disposal of private residence, transfer of private land by an individual which is not more than three million Kenyan shillings, and agricultural property less than fifty acres;</li> <li>ii) Income of a registered home ownership savings plan.</li> <li>iii) Income of the National Social Security Fund;</li> <li>iv) Dividends received by a registered venture capital company, SEZ enterprises, developers and operators licensed under the SEZ Act;</li> <li>v) Gains arising from trade in shares of a venture company earned by a registered venture capital company within the first ten years from the date of first investment in that venture company by the venture capital company;</li> <li>vi) Investment income of a pooled fund or other kind of investment consisting of retirement schemes, provided that all the constituent schemes of the pooled fund are registered by the Commissioner;</li> <li>vii) Interest income accruing from all listed bonds, notes or other similar securities used to raise funds for infrastructure and other social services, provided that such bonds, notes or securities shall have a maturity of at least three years;</li> <li>viii) Interest income generated from cash flows passed to the investor in the form of asset-backed securities;</li> <li>ix) Monthly or lumpsum pension granted to a person who is sixty-five years of age or more;</li> <li>x) Income from employment paid in the form of bonuses, overtime and retirement benefits payable to the employees in the lowest tax band;</li> <li>xi) Dividends paid by a Special Economic Zone Enterprise, developers or operators to any non-resident person;</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

The general thrust of the changes is to reduce the quantum of the allowances that can be claimed immediately and that which is being deferred. The impact of the change would be that investors would probably be paying higher taxes or having lower levels of tax losses.</li> <li>• All sectors of the economy will be impacted by the proposed changes to the capital allowances regime and that could create a “drag effect” and delay a quick pick up of economic activity once the ongoing challenges relating to Covid- 19 are dealt with.</li> </ul>

Dividends payable to non-residents increased to 15%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Taxpayers will be required to withhold tax on dividends payable to non-residents at a rate of 15% up from 10%. The new rate will materially increase the effective tax rates for foreign owned companies to circa 40.5% (as compared to the current 37%) which could discourage foreigners from investing in Kenya.</li> <li>• Had the Presidential directive to reduce the corporate tax rate to 25% been adhered to, the effective tax rates for foreign owned companies would be marginally lower at 35.5% (as compared to the current 37%). Accordingly, even where the Presidential directive to lower the corporate tax rate to 25% is heeded, the effective tax rate for foreign owned companies will only be lowered by 1.5%.</li> </ul> The effective tax rate is a key measure that foreign investors consider as they make their choice of an investment destination. With the proposed changes to the rate of taxation of dividends for non-shareholders Kenya will be less attractive to such investors.
Withholding tax on sales promotion, marketing, advertising services, and transportation of goods	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Bill introduces withholding tax on services relating to sales promotion, marketing, advertising services, and transportation of goods (excluding air and shipping transport).</li> <li>• A 5% rate of WHT is applicable in respect of payments to a resident and a 20% rate on payments to a non-resident (in the absence of a double tax treaty).</li> <li>• Whereas the proposal may be driven by the need to increase tax collections, it may be complicated where payments are made to non-residents in a double tax treaty jurisdiction as conflicts or differences in interpretation of articles of the treaty with regard to the applicability of the treaty will most likely arise.</li> </ul>
Definition of qualifying interest has been expanded	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Bill proposes to expand the definition of qualifying interest to include the aggregate interest, discount or original issue discount receivable by a resident individual in any year of income.</li> <li>• Previously, the ITA restricted qualifying interest to only interest receivable by individual from a bank or financial institution licensed under the Banking Act, or a Building Society registered under the Building Societies Act or the Central Bank of Kenya.</li> </ul> With this expanded definition of qualifying interest any payments made by a taxpayer in the nature of interest to an individual would qualify e.g those made by digital lenders on credit balances etc

Overriding comments on proposed changes to indirect taxes and miscellaneous levies:

In the section below we have highlighted the changes proposed in the Bill that impact Value Added Tax (VAT), Excise Duty and Miscellaneous levies. As has been the case for corporate income tax the National Treasury is seeking to effect changes that will lead to greater revenue generation.

The VAT changes are seeking to expand the VAT revenue base by moving goods from exempt or zero-rated status to standard rated status and notably moving some aspects of financial services from exempt status to standard rates status as is the case for insurance agency, insurance brokerage and stock brokerage services.

Changes to the Excise Duty regime is geared towards creating clarity and reducing disputes and those Miscellaneous Levies are proposed actions to empower the Cabinet Secretary of the National Treasury to make decisions on the applicability of various levies on a diverser range of transactions that could result in better control of revenue generation in this area.

Value Added Tax

The Bill seeks to amend the Value Added Tax Act, no. 35 of 2013 by standard rating numerous goods and services that are currently either zero-rated or exempt. The Bill also proposes to move a number of items from being taxable at the zero rate to being exempt.

The difference between exemption and zero-rating

Value Added Tax (“VAT”) is a consumption tax borne by final consumers of taxable goods and taxable services. The VAT rate applicable on taxable supplies is either the standard rate, fourteen percent (14%) or zero percent (0%).

Zero-rating of goods or services means that such supplies are taxable but at the rate of 0%, while exemption means that such supplies are not taxable.

While it may appear as if zero-rating and exemption have the same final impact on the price of any commodity or service, this is not the case.

Where supplies are zero-rated, the supplier of such supplies is eligible to claim input tax credits in relation to VAT incurred in making such supplies. This essentially means that VAT does not result in additional cost, arising from unclaimed input tax, to be passed on to the final consumer.

On the contrary, for exempt supplies, the supplier is not eligible to claim any input tax credits in relation to the VAT incurred to make such supplies. Accordingly, all the unclaimable input tax is factored in the price charged to the final consumer thus making such supplies more costly.

We detail below changes the Bill proposes to introduce

Description	Supplies affected and potential impact
Clarification on what constitutes ‘ordinary bread’	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The Bill proposes to define ‘ordinary bread’ to mean bread containing only the following ingredients; wheat flour, sugar, salt, yeast, fat or oil, bread improver, preservatives and water.</li> <li>This definition brings clarity in determining the type of bread and the VAT treatment hence minimizing disputes between businesses supplying bread and the Kenya Revenue Authority.</li> </ul>
Change in the VAT base and VAT status of petroleum products of specific tariff codes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The Bill proposes to abolish the exclusion of excise duty, fees and other charges from the taxable value of petroleum products of specified tariff numbers under Section B of Part 1 of the First Schedule to the VAT Act.</li> <li>Currently, the petroleum products are chargeable to VAT 8%. The proposed change will increase the taxable value of petroleum products which will result into an increase to the final price charged to consumers.</li> </ul>
Additional criteria for issuance of credit note	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The Bill proposes to allow businesses to issue credit notes where there is a commercial dispute in court with regard to the price payable, within thirty days after the determination of the matter.</li> <li>Currently, the VAT Act only allows businesses to issue credit notes within 6 months from issuance of the invoice, where for good and valid business reasons, they decide to reduce the value of a supply or where goods have been returned. The change is welcome since it will allow businesses to issue credit notes even after the lapse of the 6 months provided that the reduction in price emanates from a commercial dispute in court.</li> <li>That said one would have hoped the government would have extended the period to issue credit notes from the current 6 months to at least 12 months to reflect the commercial realities of trade and commerce.</li> </ul>
Reduction in period within which to apply for VAT refunds arising from bad debts	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The Bill proposes to reduce the period within which businesses can apply for VAT refunds arising from bad debts from 5 years to 4 years if the debt remains unpaid for a period of 3 years from the date the supply was made.</li> <li>The proposed change will require businesses to be prompt in seeking refunds, relating to bad debts, from the KRA as the window has been reduced by 1 year.</li> </ul>

Change to require all business/ persons to maintain records of their transactions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The Bill proposes to amend the requirement to maintain full and true written records to include all persons. Currently only registered persons are required to maintain records. However, with the proposed amendment, all persons doing business in Kenya will be required to maintain records of their business transactions for a period of five years and be ready to avail such records to authorized officer at all reasonable times for inspections.</li> <li>This proposed change is intended to help the government in curbing tax avoidance and fraud.</li> </ul>

Other impact of the proposed changes

In recent years the National Treasury has indicated a clear intention to alleviate its burden of paying VAT refunds to taxpayers this Bill is a continuing testament to the concerted efforts to reduce the extent of zero-rating on goods and services.

The proposed changes are, however, bound to increase the costs of certain goods and services to taxpayers and the government should factor this as the Bill is debated by stakeholders.

As a general observation, if the Bill is enacted into law as is, the overall net implication will be an increase in the prices of basic commodities such as milk, bread and medicaments and the timing could not have come at such a worse time.
